DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO MARCH 11.

Congressional

WASHINGTON, March 11.—In the Senate, a number of bills were reported from the committees and introduced, including the following: To reorganize the Navy Department granting two million acres of public lands for the benefit of the public schools of the District of Columbia, and to establish a Department of Indian Affairs.

A resolution was offered by Cole, requesting the President to inform the Senate whether the Government of Venezuela had paid the first installment due to American citizens by the award of the mixed commission.

The Senate took up the bill to strengthen the public credit.

Sumner moved to strike out the second section, legalizing gold contracts, on the ground that a late decision of the Supreme Court made it unnecessary.

Sherman and Williams opposed striking out. Cole and Howard favored the motion.

During the discussion the President sent in executive nominations, whereupon the Senate went into executive session.

Upon resuming their legislative session the debate on Sumner's motion was continued and the section was finally stricken out—ayes 27, nays 14.

Morton offered a verbal amendment to the first section, upon which a lengthy discussion ensued, terminating in the rejection of the amendment.

Without disposing of the bill the Senate adjourned to Monday.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, March 11.—A delegation of members of the Georgia Legislature, headed by Foster Blodgett, waited on the President to day, setting forth their grievances and sufferings and asking that the reconstruction acts be liberally complied with. The President inquired what action the Legislature will probably take in regard to the fifteenth amendment. He was answered that it would certainly pass it. President Grant then expressed his gratification at the prospect of so easy a settlement of the vexed question.

The crowd of visitors at the Executive mansion is greater than on any previous day. Commissioner Delano is completely overrun with visitors.

There is a great contest over the office of Commissioner of Pensions.

The Diplomatic corps called on the President to day and were presented by Secretary Washburne. The attendance and general interview were very agreeable.

Baron Gerolt, of Prussia, in behalf of the delegation, presented their congratulations and hopes for a continuance of the friendly relations now existing. The President responded briefly, thanking the gentlemen for their kind wishes and declaring it should be his constant endeavor to maintain the present relations of peace and friendship.

President Grant in reply to Washburne's letter of resignation, says he accepts it and regrets that his health will not permit him (Washburne) to remain in the Cabinet. He says, "Our personal relations since the breaking out of the rebellion, have been such that no other idea presented itself stronger, on the first news of my election to the Presidency, than that I should continue to have your advice and assistance." He concludes with expressions of continued confidence and hopes for an early restoration of Washburne's health.

Appointments.

Brevet Brigadier General George P. Shrie, paymaster, is transferred to the District of San Francisco, and ordered to report without delay.

Holmes Eoffey is appointed chief clerk in the Navy Department.

The following names were also sent to-day:—James Longstreet for Surveyor of Customs at New Orleans; James S. Casey for Collector of Customs at New Orleans; Sidney A. Stockdale, for Collector of Internal Revenue in the First District of Louisiana; Edward V. Kingsley, of New York, for Secretary of Legation at Madrid; Alexander Sharpe, Marshal for the District of Columbia. Chief Engineer James W. King to be Chief of the Steam Engineering Bureau, in place of Ishenwood.

Foreign Ministers.

CHICAGO, March 11.—The Post's special says Grant has decided that Bancroft shall remain Minister in Prussia; Hale, Minister in Spain, and Marsh, Minister in Italy. Changes will be made in the Ministers to England, Russia, France, and Portugal.

Gov. Curtin's name was not in as Minister to Russia, as was reported.

New York News.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Boutwell's appointment is received with much favor and has had a beneficial effect upon national securities.

District Attorney Courtney has received instructions to proceed with the trial of Fullerton and Belknap at the earliest possible moment.

McCormick, the reaper man, and General Dodge, late Congressman from Iowa, are the new directors chosen by the Union Pacific Railroad Company.

The jury in the case of Louis Jacobs, colored, against the Atlantic Navigation Company, for refusing him a first class passage, were unable to agree.

The statement of the prisoner Cunningham, in regard to Rogers' murder, does not obtain much credit.

The Board of Aldermen have adopted resolutions expressing sympathy with Warren and Costello, Fenian prisoners, for their long and unjust imprisonment by Great Britain, and have appointed a Committee to welcome them on their return to their adopted country.

Fifteenth Amendment.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 11.—Both houses of the Maine Legislature have ratified the fifteenth amendment.

HARRISBURG, March 11.—The State Senate has ratified the fifteenth amendment by a strict party vote.

Miscellaneous

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—A house in White Court fell to day from bad construction. A woman and two children were killed and a man seriously injured.

TROY, March 11.—A fire this forenoon destroyed property to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars.

BALTIMORE, March 11.—Ex-President Johnson arrived in this city at 11 o'clock to day, and was received by Gov. Bowie, Mayor Banks, and a number of city officials. The procession was long and imposing, comprising a squadron of cavalry, two regiments of State Militia, the Fire Department and a large number of citizens. The sidewalks, balconies and windows were crowded with spectators. The welcome was very cordial. During the afternoon, Johnson held a reception at the Exchange. Thousands called upon him.

QUEBEC, March 11.—During the terrific snow storm yesterday a wooden house at Point Levi was blown to pieces. The family of three persons within was buried in the snow. Their bodies have not yet been recovered.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

DUBLIN, March 11.—The committee appointed to solicit amnesty for the Fenian prisoners are about to raise funds by subscription for the relief of those who have been discharged from custody.

Colorado and Wyoming are interested in Cashmere Goats. It is held that the mountain country is peculiarly favorable to them, and that they are the most valuable stock that can be raised. A Committee of the American Institute reports that they are very long lived, extremely prolific, hardy, and prefer the coarse grasses. They produce from four to eight pound fleeces, worth now from six to eight dollars per pound, valuable for the coarser fabrics as well as the finer, it having great durability.

When Horace Greeley started the New Yorker in New York, years ago, he endeavored to create a sensation by offering prizes for the best poems and stories. Lewis Gaylord Clark was chairman of the committee to decide these things, and awarded the fifty dollars to a Mr. Henry W. Longfellow, a professor in Bowdoin College for the poem.

Because a "poor, lone widow" was allowed to work in a Westfield (Mass.) cigar factory, the gallant workmen struck. Chivalrous strikers!

History of a Leading Journalist—The Great Success of Manton Marble

The New York correspondent of the Chicago [illegible] thus sketches the career of one of the great journalists of the age. The instances of journalism pure and simple achieving success are so rare as to be well worthy of recording. Manton Marble has just purchased the remaining quarter interest in the New York World for $100,000 and is therefore now the sole proprietor of that mammoth concern.

Some eleven years since Mr Marble was a student at the Rochester, N. Y. College, where he was being aided by a wealthy gentleman who had discovered his abilities. On completing his studies he came to New York, and calling upon a friend asked his advice as to what vocation he should follow. He was advised to go into journalism. He accordingly proceeded to Boston and secured a position on the Evening Traveler as a theatrical reporter. He soon made his mark there and returning to New York took the position of art and dramatic critic during the incumbent's absence on a foreign tour. After the latter's return he wrote for the Evening Post at so much per column. Having been thus employed for some time, he made a trip to the Saskatchewan river region. Returning, he shut himself up closely for several weeks, and at the end of that time produced some sketches of the territory he had explored which attracted considerable attention in Harper's Magazine.

When the World was projected in the spring of 1860, a Southern gentleman, whose acquaintance he had made in this city, advanced him $20,000, with which he purchased that amount of the stock. He at the same time went into the concern as managing editor—Mr. Spaulding being the editor in chief. As the stock began to depreciate and assessments came thick and fast, the religious and other stockholders were glad to almost give away their stock. Marble quietly scooped in all he could, believing the time would come when it would be worth something. At length, in 1862, he had obtained a majority of all the stock. The paper was then apparently on its last legs. It was running rapidly behindhand, and could pay but very little for news, and its immediate decease was looked for in journalistic circles.

Then it was that Marble called upon some of the leading Republicans and represented to them that he must have assistance in order to keep the paper running. The Tribune and Times were on such a firm financial basis that he could not hope to publish the World as a Republican journal unless sinews of war were provided by the Republicans as a party. They were not forthcoming, and Mr Marble decided to try the Democratic tack and see how that would work. The Democracy then had no reliable organ in the city. He began with a yell against arbitrary arrests, quickly following with a pronunciamento for Horatio Seymour, then running for Governor against Gen. Wadsworth. Down, down went the World's circulation, until it was next to nothing. Then the tide turned with the acquisition of Democratic subscriptions, and the paper has continued to pick up ever since. Mr. Marble has continued to purchase the stock when it could be obtained, until he now has the whole thing in his own possession. As another evidence of his financial prosperity, he has recently purchased an elegant residence on Fifth avenue for $85,000. Socially Mr. Marble is one of the most charming and fascinating of men. He has, however, a great aversion to public speaking, and will invariably remain away from a banquet or dinner if there is any danger of his being called upon to respond to a toast. He has certainly had a most wonderful and extraordinary career.

[From the Dundee Advertiser.]

During the past three weeks a machine driven by steam has been at work in Manchester setting type automatically. Leading machinists pronounce it a decided success. The inventor, Mr. Mackie, a native of Dundee, and who has already made several machines for distributing and setting type—machines of singular ingenuity—claims for the one to which we refer as follows

1. All brain work, except "justification," may be done anywhere, and by persons who need never see a type.

2. Narrow paper is perforated by a tiny machine with fourteen keys, only for one hundred kind of letters, and twenty keys for two hundred.

3. This perforation can be done at the rate of a Times column of minion per hour.

4. The actual composing of the type is done by a horizontal wheel-machine, having on its rim as many kinds of type as required, which are placed one on the top of another in endless lines, at the rate of two hundred a minute.

5. The composer is driven by steam, by foot or hand, and when the endless perforated paper is attached to it, it works automatically.

6. The justification will be done by stickfuls, and instantaneously.

7. The paper used for the perforations may be old copies of the Times. New paper costs one 1d per column.

8. Errors are reduced to a minimum. The composing machine makes none, and the perforating one only when the operator is careless.

9. Duplicates may be perforated at one time, and lent, sold or used on two or more machines, and for different sizes of type.

10. The same perforations distribute the type automatically.

11. The perforated paper may be used years after for future and corrected editions. Stereotyping is, therefore, not needed.

12. One edition may be set in nonpareil, and another in pica, from the same perforations.

13. Small type is set with the same rapidity as large.

14. An author may do his own perforations, and thus save the chief cost of his work.

15. Intelligent women may perforate at home, for offices any distance away.

16. Authors may send perforated slips instead of "early sheets" abroad, and by putting on a number of composing machines, a foreign publisher might have an ordinary volume out in a day or two.

17. The reserve force which the machines will give is worthy of attention. Six perforators and three compositors will set a Times page in an hour. An office, therefore, having six of such machines in stock—and they take up little room—could run up two pages of late matter in an hour.

18. There are no tapes, elastics, or gravitation movements, to get out of order.

That the machine has all the capabilities mentioned, there can be no doubt. But, as at present it is like a Hoe's eight-feeder, with only one attached, its production is limited, and we shall wait with interest the advent of the completed one, guaranteed to be ready in three months. Mr. Mackie proposes to call it the "Bonnie Dundee."

WHY IT COSTS SO MUCH TO KEEP A RAILROAD IN REPAIR.—One reason is that the cross ties are not all of the same size and length, and consequently there is an unequal amount of bearing surface. As each driving wheel passes over the cross tie the tie is driven down in the ballast just in proportion as the bearing surface is deficient to sustain the load. Now where the cross ties are irregular in size, the resisting power to depression varies, the smaller ties sinking deepest. The blow from the driving wheel being aided by the fall so that the effects are aggravated in proportion. This result leaves the track a succession of short and irregular waves. The American Railway Times says: Vast amounts of money are expended to secure a smooth and even road bed—for that is the theory of all railway construction—and then the practice is to so arrange the superstructure that the evenness and smoothness are at once destroyed, and the trains instead of having that easy gliding motion so favorable to economy of operation and safety go thumping and pounding over the line, causing a useless waste of power, destroying the road bed, and every part of the superstructure, and destroying every part of the rolling stock as well.

[illegible] GIRLS.—Two of Illinois beautiful daughters, driving out on the plank road, near Chicago, were stopped at the toll gate and asked for toll.

"How much is it?"

"For a man and horse," replied the gate keeper, "the charge is fifteen cents."

"Well, then get out of the way for we are two gals and a mare—tell up, Jenny!"

And those two cheery young females dashed by the man of toll without disbursing the paltry sum which it was his duty to collect.

What is the difference between an editor and his wife? One sets articles to rights, and the other writes articles to set.

COURTING IN A RAILROAD CAR.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Times, who has been riding by railroad through Iowa is responsible for the following:

There was a funny little episode on the car that helped to arouse us. At Montana a young man and young woman came on board of the sleeping car, and the former said: "See here, Mr. Conductor, I want one of your best bunks for this young woman, and one for myself individually. One will do for us when we get to Bluffs, hey, Mariar?" with a playful and affectionate poke at Mariar with his elbow to which she replies, "Now, John, quit!" "for you see we're goin' to get married at Mariar's uncle's when we git there. We might 'a been married at Montanny, but we took a hebit to wait till we got to the Bluffs, bein as Mariar's uncle is a minister, and they charged such a gol'fired price for hitchin' folks at Montanny." Mariar was assigned to one of the best bunks, and John was given one not far away. After a time the inmates of the car were all stowed away in their berths to go through the inevitable alternations of sweltering and freezing.

During a stoppage of the train at one station the voice of John was heard, raised in pleading accents, all unconscious that the train had stopped, and that tone which the sound of rattling wheels had drowned when the cars were moving could be distinctly heard by all when they had stopped.

"Now, Ma-ri, you might give a feller jis' one kiss."

"John, you quit, or I'll git out right here and hoof it back to Montanny in the snow storm."

"Only one little kiss, Mariar, and I'll go; hope to die'f I don't."

"John!"

Just at that interesting moment a gray head protruded from a berth at the other end of the car, and an old man cried out so that all could hear, "Mariar, for God's sake give John one kiss so that we can go to sleep some time to-night."

It is needless to remark that a peel of laughter rang from one end of the car to the other, under cover of which John slunk back to the solitary seclusion of the bunk, leaving Mariar to the undisturbed possession of the marriage license, which she interpreted to permit no license to John until accompanied by the proper certificate. And Mariar was right.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, March 12, 1869.

New York gold market, 131¾@131⅞

Legal tenders quoted at San Francisco, 77@77½

Liverpool wheat market, 10s 3d.

New York market—Flour dull and nominal at $7@10

San Francisco produce market—Flour, superfine, $4 ½@4 75; extra, $5 50@5 62½; city brands unchanged. heat, good milling, $1 62@1 65, Santa Clara, $1 65; mmon to fair, $1 50@1 56; best samples, $1 60@1 65. arket dull. Barley quoted at $2@2 15 for round lots. oice oats range from $1 75 for light to $2 15 for choice; egon, $2 15@2 20.

Portland produce market, duller if possible than at any me heretofore. We have no important changes to note herein. Some demand for lard at slightly appreciated gures.

The bark Osmyn and the brig North Star are receiving argoes for San Francisco and the H. W. Almy will begin to load for same destination, probably by to-morrow r Monday. The Helen Angier, as soon as discharged, ill load with wheat for Liverpool.

Receipts of produce from the interior are large, considering the difficulties of navigation. The warehouses above are, however, represented as full, and there is no doubt a much larger surplus on hand than usual at this eason of the year.

Merchandise market dull in all lines except staple groceries and early agricultural goods. Dry goods and hardware are particularly lifeless, though dealers anticipate an early revival of trade and a good business for the pring months. There are already a good many liberal orders from points east of the mountains which cannot be filled till a rise of the waters of the Columbia. Wholesale dealers in all lines are complaining of slow payments from the interior merchants.

STOW FOUNDATION PAVEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 18, 1869.

Hon. Frank McCoppin, Mayor of San Francisco Dear Sir: You have now been connected with our City Government as Supervisor and Mayor for the past nine years, during which time you must have given a great deal of attention to Street Paving, and I now ask it as a special favor to me, that you give briefly, in writing, the result of your convictions relative to the several styles of street paving now in use in this city. By so doing you will much oblige

Your obedient servant,
H. F. WILLIAMS,
President Stow Foundation Pavement Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20th, 1869.

Henry F. Williams, Esq., President of the S. F. P. Co.—Dear Sir: Your communication of yesterday, requesting me to give in writing my opinion relative to the several kinds of street pavement now in use in this city, is before me, and in reply I would say, that at the time I became a municipal officer of this city, in 1860, and for many years thereafter, cobble-stone was the only kind of pavement used by the city in its corporate, and by individuals in their individual capacity. About five years ago the Nicolson pavement was introduced here by Mr. J. J. Robbins, agent of the owner of the patent, and was received with much favor by our citizens. Very many portions of our streets are now paved with the Nicolson Pavement, and still later—that is to say, about two years ago, the "Stow Foundation Pavement" was introduced here by the inventor, and many of our public streets have since been paved with that pavement.

A sufficient length of time has, I think, elapsed, to enable any person who has given the subject any attention, to form an intelligent opinion as to the merits of the respective wooden pavements—of course, I leave the cobble-stones out of view entirely—and I have come to the conclusion, that in many respects, such as adaptability to our wants and in durability, the Stow is the superior pavement. But were the two pavements equal in every other respect, the facility with which the Stow can be taken up and relaid, whenever it becomes necessary to displace it for the purpose of laying down gas and water pipes, should, in my judgment, entitle it to preference and public favor.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
FRANK McCOPPIN,
Mayor of the City of San Francisco.

We, the undersigned, have carefully read the above letter from his Honor, Frank McCoppin, to H. F. Williams, Esq., upon the subject of street paving, and we fully indorse every word it contains

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW [illegible]

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid state thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are afflicted with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians of Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, or solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief is not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who with bogus sworn-to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are ignoramuses, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF FATHER LESLIE.—We find in the Advocate an interesting sketch of the life of Rev. Father Leslie, from which we condense the following: Rev. David Leslie was born in the town of Washington, in the State of New Hampshire, in the year of our Lord 1797. He was a descendant of the Rev. George Leslie of Puritan stock. * * * * At what time he received license to preach does not appear, but he probably served as a local preacher some two or three years, for we find that he was received into the New England Conference in 1822, and served in that conference till 1836, his last appointment being at Fair Haven, Connecticut. In 1836 he received a commission as Missionary to Oregon, from Bishop Hedding. Sailing around Cape Horn, he arrived in [illegible] Sept 20, 1837, and was assigned to labor, by the Rev. Jason Lee, Superintendent of the Mission, at the station twelve miles below what is now Salem. Here he remained till 1843, in which year he removed to the Chemeketa Mission—now Salem—where he has lived almost continuously ever since. His circuit then embraced all the then populated portions of the Wallamet valley. Subsequently he performed a term of service at Oregon City, but for the last sixteen years, with the exception of one year, 1856, when he filled the Salem appointment, he has been upon the superannuated list. He was one of the founders of the Wallamet University, and has been [illegible] of the Board of Trustees for twenty five consecutive years. The writer in the Advocate says: Father Leslie as a preacher was thoroughly versed in the doctrines of the gospel, indeed, he was what may be called a good divine; and occasionally, in his palmiest days, he would preach with great clearness and power. Endowed with a good share of common sense, he was generally a [illegible] adviser on all matters pertaining to the interests of the Church, while his character as a christian may be summed up in a few words. He was faithful in his day and generation. As is the common lot of humanity, he has been a man of great affliction, at many periods of his life. One child lies buried in one of the Eastern States. The wife of his youth and three lovely daughters are [illegible] graves. [illegible] fan the grave of one daughter, and by a most inscrutable providence, two other daughters and a son-in-law, were carried over the falls of the W[illegible], and the place where repose the remains of the daughters has never yet been revealed. * * * He leaves a widow and one daughter.

DALLES NEWS.—The report of the public school, at the D[illegible] places the whole number of scholars on the rolls, at 260, with a daily average attendance of 164 in all departments. One specimen [illegible] part of the scapula or shoulder blade, and the other was one of the molar teeth. The [illegible] blade was found in the river bank lying on the bed rock, where it had been buried for centuries, and [illegible] by [illegible] of the waters. It is much [illegible], but is [illegible] feet long and almost as many [illegible]. It is [illegible] the bone complete was as much as five feet long. The tooth was found in a neighboring [illegible]. It is well [illegible], and is eight inches long across the top by four inches wide, and six inches deep [illegible] by far the largest tooth of which we have yet seen [illegible]. It [illegible] be doing good service to [illegible] could be found, and it is well worth the time of some one who has leisure to prospect further in the [illegible] where these [illegible] were found. It may be [illegible] near by to reward [illegible].

[illegible]—[illegible] are from the [illegible]. From the [illegible] up to the ninth instant, there [illegible] fifty deeds filed in the Clerk's office for record. In the month of Feb[illegible] deeds filed [illegible] Notary [illegible] sold yesterday, to Mr. Arthur Breyman, [illegible] of land, on Salem [illegible], one mile from this city, for ten thousand [illegible]. Mr. Breyman turned in [illegible] fence near the [illegible] at six thousand dollars......Dr. Carpenter [illegible] elected as delegate by the faculty of the [illegible] of the Wallamet University, will [illegible] the first of April to the Atlantic States, to attend the Convention of [illegible] Colleges and the [illegible] Association, which meet in New Orleans [illegible] the first week in May......The water in the [illegible] is still [illegible] that it is only the light draft boats that can come up the river......The Grand Jury are having a long [illegible]. It is thought it will be impossible to complete the investigations this week.

[illegible] LIBRARY [illegible].—The Advocate says: The Young Men's Christian [illegible] intend opening a reading room in the new building of Ladd & Tilton, on [illegible] of First and Stark streets, where strangers and [illegible] having leisure are to be invited to read religious [illegible] papers, furnished for that purpose......At the [illegible] held on Monday evening last, by the members of this [illegible] association it was resolved to divide the city into twenty-two districts, and assign a committee to each district to ascertain as far as possible the [illegible] How many families have [illegible] have not. How many children go [illegible], how many do not, and other interesting statistics......Wm. Wright, Clerk of [illegible] Fort Simcoe, has been in town a [illegible] for the Agency. He reports [illegible] of Indians on the Reservation at [illegible] Klickitats, Y[illegible], and other [illegible] two hundred of them are religious.

[illegible] FOR HORSE STEALING.—Last Tuesday a man [illegible] Judell alias Wilbur, was arrested for stealing [illegible] running away with, a horse hired from the [illegible] of T. B. Hall, at the Dalles. He represented [illegible] wanted the horse to ride to Ten Mile creek, [illegible] as he got out of town he started down the [illegible]. He pursued the trail some distance and then [illegible] off and went to the river at Joseph[illegible] where he raised ten dollars by pledging the [illegible] the [illegible] as she came down, [illegible] deputy sheriff of Wasco was on board with a warrant [illegible], and immediately took him into custody. STATE ITEMS.

The roads in Rogue river valley are as dry and nearly as dusty as in midsummer.

A large amount of grain has been sown in Jackson county. The farmers there are done sowing, and are waiting for rain.

The large ditch enterprise in Baker county, is so far completed as to be able to furnish water for the spring mining.

There is only one repudiator at Jacksonville. Last week the citizens took a vote on the question of paying the debt of the town. The result was 150 affirmative votes and one negative one. Economical citizens!

From the Jacksonville Sentinel: Advices from Klamath are almost up to the 20th inst. Health and harmony reigned among both whites and Indians. Lately there was a slight fall of snow, and the lake and ground froze tolerably hard. Stock, with the exception of swine, yet fare well on the range. The cold weather has made it a hard matter to [illegible].

An Idaho paper has the following: "Articles of incorporation have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State for a Cemetery Association in Yamhill county, Oregon, in whose grounds, according to one article, none but white persons shall be buried. This appears to be carrying the Caucassian idea, to a little greater length than South Carolina ever conceived of in her most fanatical days. Even the most bigoted religionists who exclude the unconfirmed from christian burial, have never deigned to create a distinction in the graveyard on account of color. That stroke of exclusiveness was left to the enlightened Democracy of Yamhill to inaugurate."

The Sentinel says the subject of bringing in a ditch from Applegate creek, to the Sterlingville mines, and, even to the diggings about Jacksonville, is being agitated in that county. The ditch will have to be about twenty-five miles long, and will cost about $60,000 to $70,000. The project was undertaken, but failed because of the large sum required to be expended before any returns could be realized, and because of the uncertainty of the investment. That paper says there is a prospect for dull times in that county, and that the miners will, many of them, be idle, in consideration of which, it advises the forming of a joint stock company; the subscriptions to the stock, to be paid in labor by the miner, and in produce by the farmer. Such a plan, it is thought, would succeed.

RAFFLE OF A VELOCIPEDE.—The three wheel velocipede, built at the Willamette Iron Works, will be raffled for at the Pacific saloon, North Front street, as soon as the chances shall be taken—60 chances at $1 each.

NIGHT SCHOOL.—Mr. Fitzgerald has opened a Night School in the schoolhouse (up stairs) near the Catholic Church. For Terms—See the Teacher.

DANCING ACADEMY.—Prof. Cardinell's classes are held every week-day evening, and on Saturday afternoon for children. Hall in Poppleton's Building, First street.

Dancing Academy.—Prof. McCann's Dancing Academy is open every evening in the week, excepting Wednesday, for the reception of pupils. Corner of Front and Alder streets. Class for children half past one Saturday afternoon.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these timekeepers.

More than 400,000 of these watches are now speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people—a proof and a guarantee of their superiority over all others.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enable them to produce watches at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent more for their watches than is necessary.

We are now selling Waltham Watches at less prices in greenbacks, than the gold prices before the war. There is no other manufacture of any kind in the United States of which this can be said.

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has proved of real practical use. Having had the refusal of nearly every invention in watch-making originating in this country, or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which severe testing by the most skillful artisans in our works and long use on the part of the public, demonstrated to be essential to correct and enduring timekeeping.

Among the many improvements we would particularize:

The invention and use of a centre-pinion of peculiar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who having had the refusal of all other contrivances, adopted Fogg's Patent pinion as being the best and faultless.

Hardened and tempered hair springs, now universally admitted by watchmakers to be the best, are used in all grades of Waltham Watches.

All Waltham Watches have dust proof caps protecting the movement from dust, and lessening the necessity of the frequent cleaning necessary to other watches.

Our new patent stem-winder, or keyless watch, is already a decided success and a great improvement on any stem winding watch in the American market, and by far the cheapest watch of its quality now offered to the public.

To CALIFORNIANS and others living in portions of the United States, where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above mentioned improvements which tend to insure accuracy, cleanliness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

Every watch bearing the trade mark of Waltham is guaranteed to be a thoroughly reliable timekeeper.

To prevent imposition, buyers should invariably demand a certificate of genuineness.

The trade supplied by Messrs. R. B. GRAY & CO., San Francisco, Cal., and generally for sale at retail by all respectable dealers.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the Interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

ATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1869.

The Temperance Question.

A correspondent notices a brief article on The Temperance Question" that appeared in ur columns a few days ago, and wishes to now why, if it be true as stated in that article that in many countries including parts of ur own rum-drinking is frightfully on the increase, we do not demand total prohibition y legal enactments as a remedy for so great a evil.

The answer to this question divides itself nto two branches. The first is that prohibition is deemed by multitudes to be inconsistent with the just principles of liberty and toleration; and this argument has points which n our judgment have never been fully nswered or refuted. But we do not intend o pursue this branch of the subject. The ther argument is that prohibitory legislation s inadequate to secure the results desired; nd we propose to consider the case in this, ts practical, aspect.

That the still is the real Pandora's box out f which flows every imaginable evil and nisery, is attested by universal observation nd experience. One-half the social plagues hat afflict modern society are certainly attributable to it. To this extent candid and sober-minded people are agreed respecting it. But they divide and stand apart directly when measures for dealing with the evil are proposed. This oppugnation grows out of the inherent difficulties of the case. Various schemes have been devised and tried to restrict and repair the damage occasioned by the use of intoxicating drinks, and all have signally failed. Individual instances of reclamation have, indeed, been produced under each of the plans suggested; considerable abatement has been made at times in the use of stimulating beverages; but as permanent remedial agents all have proved unavailing. It is probably true that, ratably to population, intemperance exerts a more powerful sway today than at any former period. These facts are often ignored in considering the problems involved in the prevalence of drunkenness; but so long as they are denied their due weight, no safe or beneficial conclusion can be reached.

For awhile "moral suasion" was regarded as the infallible pa[illegible]cea. It was insisted that by app[illegible] to pride, to [illegible] and to conscience, it was possible not only to set up effect[illegible] the swelling tide of intemperance, but to turn the devastating current [illegible] to force it first into a narrow channel, and then to dry it up forever. Much good was done and is still doing by this method, enough [illegible] to compensate for all the labor bestowed, and to encourage [illegible] effort for time to come. All through [illegible] instances are found of men [illegible] by [illegible] of moral and social influences. So far as the individuals th[illegible] are concerned, nothing better can be desired. But where one has been [illegible], thousands have been lost. As a [illegible] of social regeneration, this instrumentality, as applied, has not proved effectual. In stating this, we do not mean to be understood as touching the deeper question of the abstract potency of truth and right, or to express a doubt that they will at last prevail. All we mean to say is that the battle of the better powers with the worse has been going on for a long time, and the better seem very [illegible] to get the advantage.

After "moral suasion" had been tried for for some years, with gratifying individual [illegible], but with very little effect on the general [illegible] of affairs, it was proposed to try "legal [illegible];" that is, to put the traffic in intoxi[illegible] [illegible]. In strictly [illegible] where a certain [illegible] of preliminary work had been done by the other kind of suasion, the new [illegible] proved to be [illegible] a success; but with the de[illegible] urban populations, the [illegible] has at best operated indifferently. Under popular governments, so long as a ma[illegible], or even a popular minority, are determined to indulge in a particular beverage, they cannot be successfully restrained from it by [illegible]. The imperial government of China has done the best it could to suppress and stop the opium traffic, but has found its unlimited power too short for its purpose. Among a people of sturdier race, like the Caucasian, it may reasonably be conjectured that the absolute prohibition of intoxicating drinks would lead to serious convulsions, if not to revolution. It is one thing to prohibit; [illegible] another to stop. The majority of our people do not incline to the ex[illegible]; and in the absence of a local [illegible] to demand it in an unmistakable manner, there is no probability that the Legislature will ever authorize it. And should t be authorized without the local sentiment o support it, it would be nugatory. Portland anks, and not without cause, in certain aspects, as an eminently moral town. It certainly will compare favorably in this respect with most of the active and growing places in our country. Yet we hesitate not o say that it would be absolutely impossible o enforce prohibition in Portland, or among ny other equal population anywhere on the Pacific slope.

The license system, we take it, will be coninued in some form. In that event, the best hing to be done is so to adjust its details as o sweep out as nearly as possible all those places in which the sale of liquors is made subsidiary to immoral exhibitions, prostituion, and other descriptions of vice and infamy. It might be well to make the tax for a icense so high that whoever obtains one will have an important stake in seeing that his egal domain is not poached upon. This method would produce better results than ineffectual prohibition. Respectable men, engaged either in the manufacture or sale of iquors, would, under such a system, co-operate with their fellow-citizens in making the raffic therein as tolerable as is compatible with its nature and existence. In the present attitude of public sentiment, can any houghtful man hope for more? While we hould be glad to see the thirst for alcohol extirpated, we have no idea that it will e done in one day or for many ages to come Profound thinkers who contemplate the growing appetite for stimulating drinks which is witnessed in Northern countries, consider it ne of the deepest and most difficult probems that has presented itself in the development and progress of the human race. Some, ke Dr. Draper, ascribe it mainly to climatic nfluences. It is probably inevitable that ns, like other baleful influences which have eset mankind, should run its natural course, ntil in the progress of time the human race eaches other conditions and gets measurably eyond the influence of this evil.

They have a genuine velocipede at Jacksonlle. It is a specimen of home manufacture, but ual to the best.

Driven into a Corner.

The Herald is still quibbling about the phrase, "liquidating the debt to its specie value," which is employed in the funding act of 1790, in respect to the old national debt. We have fully explained heretofore the meaning of this phrase, and will not repeat the explanation. That paper, however, continues to assert that the meaning of the phrase was that the debt was to be funded at its market value in coin, which was two-thirds of its nominal value. We showed that it was impossible that it should have been so funded, for its market value in coin, instead of being two-thirds of its nominal value or anything near it, was only one-sixth of the nominal value; and that if only one-sixth of the debt had been funded, it would have amounted to just nothing at all. The Herald characterizes our statement that the market value of the debt in coin was only one-sixth of its nominal value, as a "loose assertion." Let us see In Irving's Life of Washington, Vol. V, page 55, we read, "The domestic debt could not have had a more sacred and patriotic origin, but in the long delay of national justice, the paper which represented these outstanding claims had sunk to less than a sixth of its nominal value." And Madison, in the debate on the funding bill asked: "Is this paper equal in value to gold or silver? No. It is worth in the market no more than one-eighth or one-seventh of that value." Yet no logic, he declared, "could disprove the obligation of the United States to pay the whole amount promised on the face of their certificates." So the Herald will perceive that our statement is not so "loose" as its ignorance has led it to suppose. Had the debt been funded on the principles the Herald is trying to maintain, it would have amounted, after it was funded, to no more than one-sixth of $75,000,000, that is to a little more than $12,000,000. Whereas, in fact, as we show elsewhere, the debt was only one hundred and sixty thousand dollars less one year after it was funded than it was before the funding act was passed. The Herald is now crowded into a corner from which escape is impossible, and it will cease to quote the funding act of 1790 as a precedent for repudiation. In confounding the phrase "liquidating the debt to specie value," with funding the debt at its market value in coin, that paper has committed an egregious blunder which has led it into many absurdities.

The Figures.

> The OREGONIAN, the other morning, furnished the exact figures of the domestic debt previous to its being funded. It knows more about these matters than Secretary Hamilton did, because in his report he could not give them.—Herald.

In his first report Secretary Hamilton could and did give the following figures of the Federal debt, and we here reproduce them

Foreign debt	$11,710,378
Certificates issued for the domestic debt	40,414,085
Unliquidated claims, including outstanding Continental money	2,000,000
Total Federal debt before the funding act was passed	$54,124,463

A portion of the two millions of unliquidated claims was estimated; the exact figures were given by the Secretary for all the balance of the debt. To the above sum let there be added the $21,500,000 of State debts that were assumed and funded with the Federal debt, and we find that the entire amount of the debt, before the funding act was passed, was $75,624,463. This was at the beginning of the year 1790.

As we have seen what the debt was before it was funded, let us now see what it was after it was funded. Taking the official report on the finances for the year 1864, we find it stated by the Register of the Treasury in a table giving the amount of the debt for each year from 1791 to 1864, inclusive, that the debt on the 1st of January, 1791, one year after the funding act was passed, was $75,463,476. See also the American Cyclopedia, article, "United States." These statements show that the debt one year after the funding act went into operation was only $160,987 less in amount than before the funding act was passed. Will the Herald now explain how it can possibly be that one-third of the debt was repudiated under the funding act of 1790, as it has so often asserted? Had one-third of it been repudiated, the debt by the funding act would have been reduced over $25,000,000, and would have amounted after it was funded to only a little more than $50,000,000. From this proof in the case there can be no appeal. The statement is as exact as a mathematical demonstration can make it. The figures are impregnable. They prove that the certificates of the old debt were funded at their face and paid, and that there was no repudiation. The Herald may quibble, but it can never disprove these figures.

A New Financial Idea.

In President Grant's inaugural address the following occurs:

> Let it be understood that no repudiator of a farthing of our public debt will be trusted in a public place, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world, and will ultimately enable us to replace the debt with bonds bearing less interest than we now pay.

The Herald the other day quoted this and gave the following as a gloss upon it:

> A pretty fair paraphase of the above sentence from the Sphinx would read as follows: "Let it be understood that no repudiator of a farthing of our public debt will be trusted in any public place, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit that ultimately will enable us to repudiate a portion of the debt by reducing the interest."

The financial genius of the Herald here exhibitits his usual brilliancy. He evidently supposes that "to replace the debt with bonds bearing a less rate of interest than we now pay" would be to repudiate a part of the obligations of the Government. Let us try this by a simple illustration Suppose this financial genius owes a sum of money for which he has given his note at twelve per cent. Suppose, further, that he has got tired of paying this rate of interest, and finding that he can obtain money at ten per cent., goes and borrows money at that rate and pays off the twelve per cent. obligation. The question now is, does he become by this act a repudiator? When he thus "replaces his debt with a bond bearing a less interest," does he, "by reducing the interest, repudiate a portion of the debt?" If this is repudiation, the same proceeding on the part of the Government would be repudiation. If this is not repudiation, then the Government may borrow money at a less rate of interest than it now pays, and discharge its obligations with its present creditors. The truth is, the Herald looks at every question through repudiation goggles, a process which produces wonderful optical illusions and absurdities

Three men, named Peter Creager, Frank Souther and C. C. Moffitt, started about a month ago from Owyhee to White Pine They got lost in a snow storm, and Creager was frozen to death. The other two with much difficulty reached a station on the road, very badly frozen.

VICTORIA, March 12.—In the Legislature, last evening, a bill recommending compensation to all the officials dismissed on the union of the colonies was passed unanimously.

The steamer Otter will sail to morrow evening for Sitka and way ports.

Small Notes.

Our bonds have lately advanced greatly in Europe. Why? Because the party in power is opposed to repudiation in any form. Had Seymour been elected these bonds would have been selling at about sixty-five cents, and the Copperhead papers would have been quoting the fact as one of the consequences of Republican misrule!

In our notice of Hamilton Fish, the new Secretary of State, we omitted to mention that he had served a full term in the United States Senate, as Senator from New York He succeeded Daniel S. Dickinson as Senator in 1851, and served until 1857, during which time he made a very honorable record for ability and integrity.

B F Dowell, proprietor of the Jacksonville Sentinel, writes a letter to the paper earnestly advocating the suffrage amendment. He says, however, it will probably not be necessary for Oregon and California to vote on the question, as a sufficient number of States will ratify it before the Legislatures of these two States again convene This, we think, is very probable

The San Francisco Call charges that the decision of Judge Hoffman declaring void the naturalization certificates heretofore issued in that State is a dodge to disfranchise Democrats and secure the State to the Republicans To this the Marysville Appeal responds A lot of Democrats were about to go where they belong, and a Democratic lawyer was keen enough to raise the question of the validity of the naturalization papers If they are not genuine, of course no one can be punished for counterfeiting them The question was not raised to disfranchise Democratic voters, but to keep a few hundred out of San Quentin prison The defendants' counsel, Calhoun Benham, a Democrat, probably weighed the question in its entire bearings but it was his duty, as a faithful attorney, to save his clients from a term at San Quentin, and learning the brick trade, even if all the naturalized citizens in the State were temporarily disfranchised.

THE Gussie Telfair, for Victoria and ports on the Sound, will sail at 6 P. M. to day

Mr Seward is the only Secretary of State who has served through the Presidential term for sixty years, or since Mr. Madison left the State Department; for though Mr. John Q. Adams was the only Secretary of State in Mr Monroe's Presidency, he did not take charge of the State Department till six months after Mr Monroe's inauguration. He was Minister in England when appointed. Mr. Madison and Mr. Seward are the only full-termed Secretaries of State mentioned in our history. There have been twenty-two Secretaries of State in eighty years—namely, Thomas Jefferson, Edmund Randolph, Timothy Pickering, John Marshall, John Madison, Robert Smith, James Monroe, J. Q. Adams, Henry Clay, Martin Van Buren, Edward Livingston, Louis McLane, John Forsyth Daniel Webster, A. P Upshur, John C Calhoun, James Buchanan, John M Clayton, Edward Everett, W. L Marcy, Lewis Cass and William H Seward

A new hand in a barber shop was recently put on a customer who wanted to be shaved The new hand was very rough and put his victim through in a vigorous manner. After he had finished the gentleman who had been shaved inquired of the new barber if he had ever shaved any one besides himself. The barber replied that he had. "Will you permit me to inquire if the man lived?"

"Sir you have broken your promise. "Oh, never mind, I can make another just as good."

FOR THROAT DISEASES and affections of the chest, "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, are of great value In Coughs, Irritation of the Throat, caused by Cold or unusual exertion of the vocal organs, in speaking in public or singing, they produce the most beneficial results The Troches have proved their efficacy

OPPOSITION LINE OF STEAMERS.—A private letter from San Francisco says that a strong and well regulated Steamship company was formed in that city for the purpose of running a line of steamers regularly between San Francisco and Portland The steamers are known to be suitable for the Oregon trade, and are noted for good speed and splendid passenger accommodation. The people of Oregon will have an opportunity of showing whether they are willing to patronize good and staunch steamers, at a reasonable price for freight and passage, as it will depend on the patronage these steamers will receive whether they will remain in our waters or not.

While you think of opposition, remember that KOHN & FISHEL, No 91 Front street, have the finest stock of Clothing and Dry Goods, and sell at very low prices.

HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, Invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.
